28.2. Are there technical or practical barriers to labeling or identification requirements?

People lie, especially online or when there is a significant financial incentive. Any electronic marking system will likely be hacked/broken.